DECLARES THAT THE FACTS ARE PATHETIC

Curious Parallels in Connection With Contributions for Mission

EIGHT CENTS PER MEMBER

Remember of the Bear of the Be Opened Children's Day in Different Churches In Richmond to-Day.

In a pamplet just issued by the Advocate Publishing Company, of this city, some highly interesting items are brought out in connection with the part played last year by the Virginia Conference, in the contribution of funds for foreign missions. The statistics are arranged according to the per cent. of assessments paid, and are prepared under the supervision of the Conference Board of Missions, of which Rev. James E. Mc-Culloch is secretary.

In preparing this pamphlet the conference secretary declares that he has no desire whatever to discredit the work of any pastor or charge; he is only giving the facts as he finds them. The Charlottesvine District is the only one in the conference that had a decrease in the mission ary collections last year. No charge in this district paid more than its assess-ment, and only three paid their collections in full. Thirteen out of twenty-one charges paid less than 50 per cent., while the whole district paid only 52 per cent. of its assessment. The secretary of the conference says as follows concerning "The 11,434 Methodists of this district gave on an average about 8 cents per member last year—not even one cent a month to foreign missions. If the Sunmonth to foreign missions. If the Sun-day-school scholars and teachers had con-tributed one cent a month they would have given nearly as much as the entire district. One church paid its paster more than twice as much as all the twenty-one charges gave to foreign missions. For the district to pay its entire assessment for foreign missions, each member would have to give on an average less than 16 cents a year, or 4 cents a quarter. More heathen die without the Gospel in China heathen die without the Gospel in China in three days than the number of pennies given by the whole district for foreign missions in a year. Apart from religion, these facts would be ridiculous; but since they indicate the interest of 11,600 Christians have in the extension of Christians have in the extension of Christians have in the extension of Christians have in the yearson why, if a person were to live to be fifty years old and gave 16 cents a year from its birth to his fleath, he would go to the judgment having given only $8 to send the Gospel of his Saviour to the heathen. Surely it is time this record was changed. May God help us to put first things first, and live his Saviour to the heathen. Surely it is time this record was changed. May God help us to put first things first, and live according to the Master's words: "Seek first the kingdom of God."

The West Richmond District Conference is declared to be one of the best districts in the conference, paying last year 88 per cent. of its assessment and leaving a deficit of only $315.96. And yet at the rate per capita in the district it would take 4,000 members of the church to support a married missionary in the field. The Congregational Church," remarks the secretary, "has one missionary on the field to every $65 members." The Richmond District paid $1 per cent. of its assessment, leaving a deficit of $554.68. The average amount given per member is less than in West Richmond.

Concerning the Virginia Conference as

Concerning the Virginia Conference as whole the Secretary has the following

"Including the $2.550 which was appropriated by the Rosebud Society the Virginia Conference paid to Foreign Missions last year 21,571.52, leaving a deficit of $1.228.48 on its assessment. The Conference paid 94.6 per cent. of its assessment and an average of 23.4 cents Conference paid 94.6 per cent. of its assessment and an average of 23.4 cents per member. According to the per cent. of assessment paid, this Conference stands eighth in the connection; according to the average amount given per member, it is third of all the Conferences east of the Mississippi; and according to the total amount paid to Forcign Missions last year, it leads all the Conferences in Southern Methodism." WHY MEAT IS SO SCARCE NOW

Farmers Feed Corn to Hogs and Cattle and Make it Pay Exceedingly Well. Corn Purchased at High Price Made Very Profitable.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.) LEXINGTON, VA., May 31 .- Robert S. William Jennings, of Fancy Hill, Rockbridge county, has recently sold 180 fine hogs, which he had fattened on corn purchased by him at 47 1-2 cents a bushel. Another steekman of Rockbridge has been buying corn under the rise at 70 cents per bushel and feeding cattle. His cattle sold made his corn used in fattening them bring him $2 a bushel.

WHY MEAT IS HIGH.

Shipments of spring lambs from Rockbridge have been much delayed. The first lots sent out from Lexington this week—lots sent out from Learning that they were not two carloads—showed that they were not so heavy as last year, the maximum weight being $5 pounds then, and those shipped this season were only 70 pounds. The falling off in the shipments from Ra-phine, where they are heaviest, was 30 year cent per cent.

per cent.
From Timber Ridge they averaged from 70 on one lot to 80 pounds on another, and the price paid was 6 1-2 cents per pound. The total amount received at that point for sales was $1,123 during the mast week.

The falling off is due to the hard winter and the later dry season, which produced no grass.

An Interesting Book in Which the Names of Many Well Known Virginia People Appear.

A book of interest to many people in Richmond and Virginia is "Some Colonial Dames of Royal Descent," by Charles Henry Browning, recently published in Philadelphia. In its three hundred and more handsomely printed pages are to be found the lines of descent, along which many Colonial Dames of Virginia and many Virginians who are not Colonial Dames trace back their lineage through an unbroken line of ancestors to one more of the crowned heads of Europe.

Mr. Browning's "Americans of Royal Descent." a volume of similar size and covering in part the same ground, was well received two or three years ago. Both volumes are to be found at the Winglish Historical Society. Virginia Historical Society.

Many families well known in Richmond and Virginia are mentioned in these two and Virginia are mentioned in these two volumes. With eminent appropriateness, the first pedigree given in "Some Colonial Dames of Royal Descent," traces the ancestry of Mildred Warner, the paternal grandmother of George Washington, back to Louis VIII. of France through the Percys and Nevilles of England, than whom no families were more notable in the England of four hundred years ago. Apart from kings without number, this line of descent sets forth that then flowed in the viens of the Father of his Country Ballerby will give a trolley party to Lakeside on Thursday night.

Of peculiar interest is the carefully-studied line of descent of Mrs. Simon B, Buckner, of Kentucky, who was a Miss Claiborne, of Richmond. One line of her ancestry is traced back through an un-broken line to Charlemagne. The same line of descent belongs equally as well to other Richmond ladies, among them W. T. Robins, Mrs. P. H. shown hereabouts. To avenge his cap-tured fowls, Mr. King watched the hawk and located its nest. He killed the old one with a shotgun and captured the young when the tree was cut down.

The mother weighed more than four pounds, and from tip to tip measured fifty-one inches. Mr. King says he has killed many hawks during his life, but this is the largest he ever saw. Its chief diet was spring chickens and choice (Special Dispatch to The Times.) SUFFOLK, VA., May 31.—Police Chief Brinkley to-day had word from Attorney Green, of Warrenfon, N. C., that H. F. Gillis (white) and Fred Peebles and James Smith (colored) had pleaded guilty.

The prisoners accused of safe blowing at Vaughan. N. C., were arrested here and at the first hearing in Warrenton the cases were continued. The trials will

CHMOND COMPANY WINS AGAIN CHMOND COMPANY WINS AGAIN
For the fourth time the Rosenegk Brewing Company has secured a contract to supply the National Soldiers Home at Hampton. Va., with their Champagne Lager Beer. This product is an absolutely pure and first-class article. The regulations of the Home governing proposals made them, read: "Proposals are desired only for beers having the highest national reputation as pure products of malt and hops," and only such bids are considered as have been previously requested in writing by the Governor of the Home.
These conditions placed the Rosenegk Brewing Company in competition with the largest and most well-known beweries of the United States and their success against such was truly very flattering.
